

Ford Foundation Dissertation Fellowships – Application Instructions

Submission Deadline: December 12, 2023 at 5:00 PM Eastern Standard Time

General Guidelines and Advance Preparation

- Provide all information requested on the application web pages.
- Prepare and successfully upload documents.
 - Essays must be the applicant's original work.
 - Provide informative detail and avoid technical jargon and/or highly technical content.
 - Get feedback from advisers, mentors, and colleagues.
 - Carefully proofread all documents.
- Contact potential letter writers to submit letters of recommendation by the Supplementary Materials deadline.
- Confirm the minimum Supplementary Materials required for complete application submission.

Document Formatting

- Save all documents as .pdf files prior to upload.
- Do not password protect files as reviewers will not be able to view them.
- Do not use long file names or special characters in file names.
- Double-space and use a standard 12-point font.
- Set margins at 1" (top and bottom) and .5" (left and right sides).
- Do not exceed the maximum page limits as specified for each document.
- Do not exceed the maximum file size limit (4 MB).
- Do not include headers or footers (this includes your name, document titles and page numbers) as these will be auto-generated for complete, submitted applications.
- Figures or citations are allowed but will count towards the total page count. If used, single-space and format using a standard bibliographic format appropriate to field.
- Prepare all materials in English.

Application Components

A complete application includes the materials described below. It is the responsibility of the applicant to ensure that all uploaded documents are accurate, legible, complete, not password-protected or secured, and that these documents comply with the formatting specifications listed above. Once the application is submitted and the application deadline has passed, applicants will not be able to make changes to their application.

Citations are not required, but if used, they may be single-spaced and will be included in the total page count. Applicants should use a standard bibliographic format appropriate to their field.

1. Personal Statement

Maximum two pages, 12-point font, double-spaced

Applicants should describe their background, experience, and commitment to the goals of the Ford Foundation Fellowships by addressing all of the following that apply:

- Capacity to respond in pedagogically productive ways to the learning needs of students from diverse backgrounds
- Sustained personal engagement with communities that are underrepresented in the academy and ability to bring this asset to learning, teaching, and scholarship at the college or university level
- Likelihood of using the diversity of human experience as an educational resource in teaching and scholarship
- If applicable, how experience as a member of an underrepresented group through discrimination, inspiration, resilience, etc. may inform participation in the fellowship

Applicants should also describe their past and ongoing community service efforts such as:

- Improving access and opportunity for all, particularly in one's local community (neighborhood, place of worship, geographic region)
- Tutoring and mentoring students in challenging environments
- Participation in housing or public service projects
- Leadership and organizational skills that benefit a larger community
 - Campus-based student activities
 - Language teaching
 - Involvement in professional organizations that serve the community

Applicants should note anything in their background that speaks to their unique personal or professional perspective and experiences such as:

- First person or generation in family to achieve college degree or seek advanced degree
- Teaching methods and academic interests that are inclusive and sensitive to diversity
- Any successes that can be attributed to using new techniques to create an inclusive and respectful teaching and learning environment
- Personal goals, both long-standing and future-focused, that involve increasing understanding in the college or university setting and are in the broader context
- Employment that demonstrates a long-standing commitment to diversity and depth of understanding of a multicultural society

2. Statement of Previous Research and Scholarly Productivity

One document, maximum three pages total, 12-point font, including a summary of previous research (double-spaced) and a list of publications and presentations (single-spaced)

Applicants should outline any previous research including:

- Undergraduate research including any summer research programs or summer, part-time, or full-time employment
- Research conducted to date during graduate study including research progress on the dissertation
- For graduate level research: goals, general methodology, major results, and impacts of the research

Publications and presentations for the last five years listed in the following order:

- Publications in reverse chronological order
- Presentations in reverse chronological order

3. Abstract of Dissertation

Maximum one page, 12-point font, double-spaced

Applicants should upload an abstract of their doctoral dissertation (this should not be an abstract of the proposed research).

4. Proposed Plan

Maximum three pages total, 12-point font, double-spaced

Applicants should describe the work they expect to undertake if awarded a fellowship:

- Description of the overall framework of the dissertation
- Summary of research remaining to be completed for the dissertation, including a description of technical methods, data sources and collection, sampling methods, analytical methods, etc.
- A timeline for writing the dissertation including a discussion of possible barriers to completing writing during the period of the fellowship
- Expected timing of defense of the dissertation
- Description of how the dissertation work will facilitate and enhance the applicant's career plans and contribute to the field of study

Applicants may wish to ask their dissertation adviser or a professor in their discipline to review the Proposed Plan for substance, clarity, and organization prior to submission.

5. Annotated Bibliography

No maximum page limit beyond the limit of the ten key sources, 12-point font, entries may be single-spaced

Applicants should prepare a document which includes two to four sentences each for no more than ten key sources, including primary and secondary sources, which are the most important in shaping the current status of the problem which the applicant will be studying. This listing of the important work in the field is intended to provide context to reviewers.
